Mr. Trent Northcutt, President and Chief Executive Officer of Aurora Spine, stated, “We are very excited to be participating in this year’s ASPN Conference, which is our first in-person industry conference since the Covid-19 pandemic began. We have partnered with ASPN by sponsoring sessions to have surgeons learn about Aurora’s products, and participate in hands-on training using our products. We have found such hands-on events to be a wonderful way to get physicians and surgeons to learn about Aurora’s products and begin to implement them within their practices. The conference is also very timely for us to be meeting with physicians and surgeons, especially as we embark on developing and releasing several proprietary products in the coming quarters.”
