

Comstock Metals and RWE Clean Energy Enter Strategic Solar Recycling Partnership

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., April 16, 2025 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) — Comstock Inc. (NYSE American: LODE) announced today that its subsidiary, Comstock Metals LLC (“Comstock Metals”), a pioneer in sustainable, zero-landfill solar panel recycling has entered into a Master Services Agreement (MSA) with RWE Clean Energy, the U.S. subsidiary of leading global energy company, RWE.

Comstock Metals will provide RWE with recycling, decommissioning, and logistics services for their expansive U.S. solar installations ensuring a zero-landfill solution for 100% of the recovered solar panel materials.

Under the terms of this new agreement, Comstock Metals will serve as a preferred, strategic partner for the recycling, disposal, and decommissioning services for RWE’s solar installations. These projects will include the recycling of solar panels and related equipment, logistics management, eco-friendly disposal practices, and the safe transportation of materials. “This partnership underscores our shared commitment to sustainability and innovation,” stated Dr. Fortunato Villamagna, President of Comstock Metals. “RWE has consistently showcased exceptional commitment to their mission of providing renewable energy solutions by leading the adoption of solar energy and reducing carbon emissions. Comstock Metals complements RWE’s efforts as a trusted provider in the renewable energy market, ensuring environmentally conscious recycling of the solar panels and their components.”

This agreement represents a continuation and expansion of the successful collaboration between the dedicated teams of Comstock Metals and RWE on multiple projects throughout Nevada and California. Comstock Metals has already successfully coordinated the decommissioning, transportation, and recycling of more than 4 million pounds of end-of-life solar materials for RWE, with much more anticipated as demand for responsible recycling grows.

“Comstock Metals continues to systemically identify and close critical gaps in the nascent solar panel recycling sector, creating new capabilities and long-term service opportunities for both the company and the entire supply chain,” said Comstock Inc.’s Executive Chairman and CEO, Corrado De Gasperis. “With these rapidly expanding industry partnerships, we are creating unique, sustainable, and full-service solutions for the world’s most renowned renewable energy companies.”

About RWE in the U.S.

Through its subsidiary RWE Clean Energy, RWE is the third largest renewable energy company in the United States, with a presence in most U.S. states from coast to coast. RWE's team of about 2,000 employees in the U.S. stands ready to help meet the nation's growing energy needs. With its homegrown and fastest-to-market product, RWE supports the goal of American Energy dominance and independence. To that end, RWE Clean Energy is committed to increasing its already strong asset base of over 10 gigawatts of operating wind, solar and battery projects, focusing on providing high-quality jobs. RWE invests in local and rural communities while strengthening domestic manufacturing supporting the renaissance of American industry. This is complemented by RWE's energy trading business. RWE is also a major offtaker of American liquified natural gas (LNG). To learn more, please visit RWE Clean Energy website.

As an energy company with a successful history spanning more than 125 years, RWE has an extensive knowledge of the energy markets and an excellent expertise in all major power generation and storage technologies, from nuclear, coal and gas to hydro, batteries, wind and solar.
