VANCOUVER, British Columbia –

Mogo Inc. (NASDAQ:MOGO) (TSX:MOGO) (“Mogo” or the “Company”), a financial technology, digital payments and crypto company, today announced its financial and operational results for the third quarter ended September 30, 2021.

Key Financial Highlights for Q3 2021

(All comparisons are relative to the three-month period ended September 30, 2020 unless otherwise stated)

- 126% year over year growth in Subscription and Services revenue to $9.5 million, third sequential quarter of accelerating growth.
- Total revenue increases 58% year over year to $15.4 million, second sequential quarter of accelerating growth.
- Adjusted EBITDA¹ loss of $3.4 million, compared with positive Adjusted EBITDA of $4.8 million in Q3 2020.
- Net loss of $9.8 million, compared with net income of $1.0 million in the prior year period when the Company proactively scaled back growth spend during COVID. After adjusting for certain non-cash and non-operating expenses, Adjusted Core Net Loss¹ was $5.6 million, up from $5.1 million in Q2 2021.
- Ended the quarter with combined cash, digital assets and investments of $64.3 million. When including Mogo’s book value of its investments in cryptocurrency platform Coinsquare, Mogo’s cash, digital assets & investments total $193 million².

“We are very pleased with the performance in the third quarter, with revenue growth accelerating to 58% over last year, showcasing the strength and diversification of our core business and the power of our model,” said David Feller, Mogo’s Founder and CEO. “We are still in the very early days of fintech adoption as consumers look for solutions that are built for the modern world while also most importantly helping them achieve financial freedom in a way that existing solutions haven't delivered. With close to 1.8 million members, we have more ways to engage and support consumers on their journey to becoming financially fit. We are targeting a massive addressable market supported by long-term tailwinds, and we are investing heavily to build a next gen fintech platform that can capture more of this market. For example, we are quickly moving towards the launch of MogoTrade – our commission free stock trading solution and most significant product development to date. Through internal development, acquisitions, and partnerships, we are assembling all the pieces we need to deliver a best-in-class, mobile-first trading solution. This is a key part of our digital wealth platform and strategy to grow in the multi-trillion-dollar Canadian wealth market.”

“Our third-quarter results were again highlighted by another quarter of accelerating growth in subscription and services revenue, which was driven by an increasingly diversified set of products and revenue streams,” said Greg Feller, President and CFO of Mogo. “The expansion of our consumer-facing solutions and the addition of next-gen payment processing have greatly increased our addressable market and diversified our business to mitigate periods of volatility in any one area such as crypto trading. Given our strong momentum, we have again increased our guidance for Q4 2021, which puts us in a great position entering 2022 for continued strong growth which we believe will be accelerated with the launch of MogoTrade.”
