“We are excited to be working with Ace Hardware. They represent leaders in the retail market for do-it-yourselfers and the consumer market, for which our Evolve™ soft bait is uniquely positioned,” said Joel Freundt, SenesTech’s President and CEO.

“This is the first major move we will make into the retail market. We have expanded our packaging to include stand-up pouches, which are the perfect solution for the retail space. We are also in discussions with various rep agency firms that specialize in representing brands to major retailers and industrial/agricultural suppliers, to represent our line, as this will accelerate our penetration into this market segment,” continued Mr. Freundt.

This development follows the decision previously announced, that some individual Ace franchises were beginning to carry SenesTech’s rodent fertility control products.
