

Zomedica Releases Over-the-Air Software Update Capabilities for Its TRUFORMA® Platform

OTA capability enhances introduction of new assays from rapidly expanding menu

ANN ARBOR, MI / May 15, 2024 / Zomedica Corp. (NYSE American:ZOM) (“Zomedica” or the “Company”), a veterinary health company offering point-of-care diagnostics and therapeutic products for equine and companion animals, today announced the launch of Over-the-Air (“OTA”) software and firmware update capabilities for its TRUFORMA point-of-care diagnostic platform.

“We recognized the need to deliver software and firmware updates remotely early in the TRUFORMA development,” said Evan St. Peter, Vice President of Technology Innovation at Zomedica. “Following our 2023 acquisition of Qorvo Biotechnologies and the growth of the TRUFORMA product line with recent assay launches, the timing for adding this capability is ideal. We’re excited to harness OTA updates to enable rapid deployment of new assays and deliver new features and customer experiences on the TRUFORMA platform.”

OTA updates will be delivered via Zomedica’s myZomedica® cloud customer experience and Internet-of-Things (IoT) platform. OTA capabilities streamline the software update process for both Zomedica and its customers. When a new software update is available, customers will be notified on their device and can apply the update with the push of a button. The myZomedica global OTA service includes best practices capabilities for staged deployments to ensure software update resiliency.

“The release of TRUFORMA OTA software update capabilities demonstrates Zomedica’s dedication to accelerating delivery of highly beneficial assays on the TRUFORMA diagnostic platform,” said Larry Heaton, Chief Executive Officer of Zomedica. “These capabilities further reduce barriers for customer adoption of newly launched assays, provide an efficient means of delivering timely enhancements for existing assays, and free up our salespeople from performing manual upgrades.”
